

Encyclopaedia of Buddhism: A World Faith (Vol. VIII: Global Value)

By M.G. Chitkara

APH Publishing Corporation, 2001. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Values such as responsibility, integrity, commitment, and Patriotism are considered old by some. These may be old values but they are certainly not obsolete. They have stood the test of time and will be here forever. These values are universal. I do not know of any time or culture in history, which does not respect these values. Values are socially accepted Norms to evaluate objects, persons, and situations that form part and parcel of society. Value system is the backbone of a civilised society. Values may change from one Society to another society and also time to time. For example, every society abides by certain moral values and there are values which are accepted by all the Societies are, "Global Values". In this modern era, the Means of communication are innumerable and highly sophisticated; nevertheless, the principle of Teaching is, and will always be, one and the same, today, just as yesterday, the Teacher goes through illustrations and examples taken out from nature, in order to teach the letters of the alphabet : A for apple, B for Banana, C for cat etc. We followed the same idea, putting together illustrations and...
